Singing instantly engages your child's brain and heightens their attention. Try singing to other books, making up your own rhythm. Make up songs during daily routines and activities. When singing, change up the words; Replace Head, Shoulders, knees and Toes to Head, Fingers, Toes, and Lips. Insert your child's name into songs as much as possible. When singing Mary Had a Little Lamb, replace Mary with your child's name. Children love when you sing about them!
